12. Resolution 05-01-2012, brought before the Conference of California Bar Associations in October 2012, proposed that mediators in California be regulated by the State Bar of California using "the same procedures in adjudicating the fitness of a mediator to mediate as it does in adjudicating the fitness of an attorney to practice law," and that the standards of conduct, minimum qualifications for mediators, and procedures for enforcing the standards of conduct would be up to the Judicial Council. The Resolution did not pass. SCMA submitted a letter opposing it. See
